Rotary Basics – Four Avenues of Service:

The term "Four Avenues of Service" is frequently used in Rotary literature and information. The "Avenues" refer to the four elements of the Object of Rotary: Club Service, Vocational Service, Community Service and International Service.

Although the Avenues of Service are not found in any formal part of the constitutional documents of Rotary, the concept has been accepted as a means to describe the primary areas of Rotary activity.

"Club Service" involves all of the activities necessary for Rotarians to perform to make their club function successfully.

"Vocational Service" is a description of the opportunity each Rotarian has to represent the dignity and utility of one's vocation to the other members of the club.

"Community Service" pertains to those activities which Rotarians undertake to improve the quality of life in their community. It frequently involves assistance to youth, the aged, handicapped and others who look to Rotary as a source of hope for a better life.

The Fourth Avenue, "International Service," describes the many programs and activities which Rotarians undertake to advance international understanding, goodwill and peace. International Service projects are designed to meet humanitarian needs of people in many lands.

When a Rotarian understands and travels down the "Four Avenues of Service," the Object of Rotary takes on even greater meaning. From ABCs of Rotary.

Ed Tremblay and Sukrit Goswami

Sukrit Goswami is from India. He came to the United States after high school. Mr. Goswami's educational background consists of two master's degrees, one in Information Science and the other in Business Administration and a bachelor's degree in Economics/Business from the University at Albany.

He worked for the Crandall Public Library in Glens Falls as an Information Resource Librarian responsible for recruiting and training volunteers, supervising staff and designing and coordinating workshops for library professionals. Mr. Goswami also taught literacy classes as well as planned and implemented library programs for the community focused on creating a culture that promoted positive changes and a climate for excellence.

In addition to his work at the Crandall Public Library, Mr. Goswami has also spent time working for New York State Library in Albany as a library assistant and also at the Bethlehem Central School District as a technical support specialist and intern.

Sukrit Goswami has several things planned for the Cohoes Public Library. The library will begin holding classes for residents in which they will learn how to use PC and the Internet. The library is also starting a book club for children. In the future they plan on starting another one for adults. They are also exploring alternatives to bring a big screen TV to the library to show movies. He is also beginning to work on the library web site.

Mr. Goswami's encourages anyone to give him suggestions or advice.
